The 20th edition of DocLisboa brings the topic 'A questão colonial' ('The colonial question') to the big screen. This year, the festival will be about the Portuguese and French colonial period, proposing a film cycle about the several protagonists of these wars. In addition to the main topic, other sections will be presented. The section 'Da Terra à Lua' ('From the Earth to the Moon') builds bridges between history and the future. Here we will be able to see political films, which deal with climate change as well as with the governmental panorama in Brazil. Dance, literature and music are also a part of DocLisboa in the section 'Heart Beat', which is a representation of the art world.

Theatre, dance and music are part of the 20th edition of Moment II of the Temps d' Images festival. In total, there are ten projects which connect live art and visual image. This festival will present performances such as 'Tratado da Invenção das Coisas' ('Treaty on the Invention of Things'), by Daniel Moutinho, a piece about his body, in which the artist tries to create a living encyclopaedia of his understanding of things, and 'Se te portares bem vamos ao McD***ld's' ('If you behave, we'll go to McD***ld's'), by Mário Coelho, which expresses the possibility of anyone being recruited to obey the wishes or dreams of someone else. The dance shows will include the presentation of 'Paisagem' ('Landscape'), by Rodrigo Teixeira and João Cristovão Leitão, which has violence as the protagonist, and 'La Burla', by Bruno Brandolino and Bibi Dória, a choreographic fiction which accompanies two figures in a dystopian reality. This edition also includes the exhibition 'Sufocada em Lágrimas' ('Suffocated in Tears'), by Eunice Duarte.

Festa do Cinema Francês

The French Film Festival returns to Lisboa's movie theatres with a schedule continuing throughout the month of November. The programme invites the audience to see unreleased previews and films which are given a new opportunity of being shown on the big screen. It also includes a programme for children and youth, which makes this festival an event for the whole family. One of the novelties in this edition is the section dedicated to gastronomy and meetings with filmmakers. In November, the schedule continues at Cinemateca Portuguesa with a cycle honouring filmmaker Louis Malle. The French Film Festival is also part of the Portugal-France Season 2022, in a celebration of the historical bonds of friendship which unite the two countries.

City of Lisboa

Useful Information

Lisboa is the capital of Portugal and the country's biggest city, located on the estuary of the Tejo river, on the European Atlantic coast. It is continental Europe's westernmost capital.

Portugal's official language is Portuguese. Derived from Latin roots, Portuguese is the third most spoken European language in the world, with around 200 million speakers.

Around 3 million people live in the Lisboa region, with around 600 thousand living in the capital itself. The Portuguese Constitution allows religious freedom, with various religions being practised in Portugal.

Electric voltage: 230 / 400 volts, on a 50-hertz frequency. The electric sockets adhere to European standards. Blade plugs (US standard) must be used in conjunction with a 230 volts transformer, as well as an adaptor.

In Lisboa winters are mild and summers hot, though moderated by its location near the sea. During spring and autumn there are usually sunny days with mild temperatures.

Local currency and Payments

The Euro is Portugal's official currency, having been introduced in January 2002. 1 Euro is divided into 100 cents. There are coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cents and 1 and 2 Euros. The bills can be distinguished by their size and colour and have the following face values: 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 and 500 Euros. In Portugal, payments can be made in cash, bank transfer, cheque, credit cards and debit cards.

For this purpose, you must present an identification document (passport or other official) to the seller, who will provide proof of the purchase registration. PATRIMÓNIO DA
HERITAGE OF

The song of Lisboa and the World

Classified as Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO since November 2011, Fado is the purest expression of Lisboa's "soul". Much more than just a song, Fado is a musical manifestation of feeling Portuguese and a city's way of life, always accompanied by the solemn and melancholy chords of the Portuguese guitar.

Considered a brand inseparable from the culture and tradition of the Portuguese capital, Fado has been for at least two centuries, part of the city's heritage that endowed it with soul and voice. But since influences from overseas, and from various cultures which arrived in Lisboa can also be heard in Fado, Lisboa's song is now deservedly a shared heritage with the world. Inspired from a simple and sentimental language, Fado's universal character surpasses all barriers and is now enjoyed by millions of fans worldwide. This internationalization of Fado is greatly due to the charisma and the voice of Amália Rodrigues, the most renowned fado singer of all time, who from the 1950's took Lisboa's song to the most prestigious venues, from Russia to Japan. More recently, a new generation of singers of this genre has given the song a new vitality, placing it in the circuits of World Music. The ultimate international recognition of Fado comes with UNESCO's highest recognition, whose award of the Intangible Heritage of Humanity title makes this a perfect example of how a centuries-old tradition of a city becomes the identity symbol of a people. Therefore, whenever the lights are dimmed in a fado house and someone says "Silence, Fado is about to be sung", this is not just a ritual that is being performed. It is, as Amália Rodrigues would say, "a strange form of life" that is being renewed.

Fado Houses

Here visitors can experience the whole atmosphere and rituals associated with Lisboa's song and listen to this language of emotions. Set in the historic districts of the city such as Alfama, Bairro Alto, Lapa and Alcântara, there are diverse establishments which host regular performances of fado, with resident artists.

FESTIVALS

Festival Solos Ibéricos

From 22nd October, Saturdays, 9 pm; Sundays, 5 pm, Teatro Ibérico, Rua de Xabregas, 54 (buses: 210, 718, 742, 759). Tickets: 7 euros, general. More information at:
teatroiberico.org

The second edition of the Solos Ibéricos Festival starts from the double meaning of the word solos, presenting two Spanish and three Portuguese shows. The artistic proposals come from different creators, who through various performing languages, created performances for a more diverse audience with the aim of increasing the diversity of the concept of "Iberism" as a form of artistic reconstruction. "Stand Down", by Ángel Fraguá; "Mecha Show You", by Cia Jimena Cavalletti, "Os qu'emigraRAM", by OITO, "Samotracias", by Mákina de Cena and "Trilla", by La Pármaco are the shows that will take the stage during the end of week of October and November.

Terra Lisboa Architecture Triennale 2022

Until 5th December, in several cultural venues in Lisboa.
Tickets: depending on the activity. More information at:

Every three years, the Architecture Triennale fills Lisboa with a forum of debate and cultural promotion around a big topic. This year, 'Earth' is the central concept which resulted in four exhibitions, four books, three awards, three days of conferences and a selection of independent projects, which are now being presented. The proposal is to rethink the future, to move towards a new model, which brings a greater balance between communities, resources and processes. Some of the exhibitions are 'Retroactivar' ('Retroactive'), at MAAT, and 'Visionárias' ('Visionaries'), at Culturgest. The first makes visitors reflect on urban space, on how cities are the populations' present and future and, at the same time, are degraded or marginalized spaces. The latter focuses on visions from people in architecture, in arts, in design or in science.

A place where everything is ending all the time and which she called -io. Between the piano, the organ and her voice, Haley Fohr leads the audience through black holes and gravitational forces which are translated into metaphors about death. But, also having death as a symbol of change and rebirth, the artist has broadened horizons, creating an impressive song set.

Released in 2021, the most recent work by the British band resulted from the 'break' Ellie Rowsell, Joff Oddie, Theo Ellis and Joel Amey took at an Airbnb in Somerset to rediscover themselves as a band away from the fast pace of life on tour. In this period they had the opportunity to strengthen friendships and start working on demos which became this new album produced by Markus Drav. 'Blue Weekend' thus reveals itself as a more refined sound trajectory, which includes Ellie Rowsell's personal narrative.

Albee's work represents a meeting between the characters Peter and Jerry, two men who seek communication dispensing with dialogue. From here on, it is no longer one character searching for the other, but rather an audience seeking for a connection to the play unfolding before its eyes. In Zoo Story, the spoken words are replaced by gestures and the theatre is transformed into a space where diversity is acknowledged and meetings are facilitated. Deaths? Just Jerry's, at the end. All the rest is future.

The Portuguese trash art artist, who is known a bit all over the world for his large scale animal sculptures created with all kinds of urban waste, returns to Portugal for a national exhibition. Very concerned about the issues of environmental sustainability and of the negative impact of pollution on nature, Bordalo II creates simple messages to draw attention to this kind of problems, using metal remains, containers, plastic toys, tires, hoses, ropes, marine debris and traffic separators. In EVILUTION, the artist reaches a different level, presenting an exhibition without precedent.

Where does Lisboa's water take us

Although, today, turning on a tap to fill a glass with water is a simple gesture which is accessible to anyone, the history of this resource in the capital was not always linear. In some periods of history, water and its recurrent scarcity have, from time to time, been a problem for those who lived on the seven hills. There is even a surviving legend which says that it was thanks to the lack of supply that king D. Afonso Henriques was able to conquer the city from the Moors in 1147.

To bring water to the populations, it was necessary to install fountains and promote professions like the one of the water carriers, who transported it in barrels to people's homes. The drought problems and the difficulties in supplying the people from Lisboa diminished from 1731 on with the construction of the Aqueduto das Águas Livres (Aqueduct of the Free Waters).

Built by order of King D. João V, this monument collected and transported water from the Águas Livres spring, in Belas, a village near the city. Its opening allowed for the expansion of the distribution network and many of those fountains can still be seen in Lisboa today.

Water began to be distributed through five underground galleries: Loreto, Campo de Santana, Necessidades, Rato and Esperança. The infrastructure was not damaged in any way by the earthquake in 1755 and it was completed and concluded in 1799. It has 127 arches and extends for 58 kilometres, which are divided in two parts: 14 kilometres of main aqueduct and 44 kilometres of secondary aqueducts. The over 900 metres we can see include the biggest pointed stone arch in the world.

The reservoir which collects the water coming from the aqueduct is called Mãe d'Água (Mother Water). The spring water is stored here, pouring from a dolphin's mouth over a stone waterfall. The room owes its spaciousness to the four columns that support the vaulted ceiling, which, at top of the towers, has the Amoreiras 360° Panoramic View, a viewpoint located in one of the highest spots which offers an unparalleled view over Lisboa.

If we follow the water path, we get to the Reservatório da Patriarcal (Patriarchal Reservoir), one of the first to be built and which is now hidden underneath the Príncipe Real Garden. Its octagonal shape is similar to the design of the lake we can find in the garden, some metres above. The water path also leads us to the Estação Elevatória a Vapor dos Barbadinhos (Barbadinhos Steam Pumping Station). This station was responsible for the domestic distribution and operated until 1928. The building consisted of three sections: a section for storing the coal, which was necessary to operate the steam machines, a second section for the machines and another area for the pumps. Today it has been turned into a museum, where the different used mechanisms are exhibited.

From 1930 on, the supply system began to be improved and expanded. Nowadays, the way water reaches Lisboa is different, but the efforts to supply this resource have left a legacy in the city's history and architecture which is worth knowing. Find out for yourself.

EXHIBITIONS

Self-portraits and other matters

Until 23rd October, from Tuesday to Sunday, from 10 am to 1 pm and from 2 pm to 6 pm, Centro Cultural de Cascais, Av. Rei Humberto II de Itália, 16 (train: Cascais and bus M27). Tickets: 5 euros. More information at: fundacaodomluis.pt

Centro Cultural de Cascais, more exactly the Chapel space, receives a series of 25 drawings from the exhibition 'Autorretratos e outros assuntos', by the young artist Ricardo Marcelino. Using techniques from oil and charcoal painting, both on canvas and on paper, the paintings presented here capture moments from the artist's childhood, as well as idealizations of reality and landscape organizations. Between self-portraits, portraits and landscapes of Cascais, Ricardo Marcelino proposes, as he himself puts it, to translate the objective character of a distinct and perfectly distorted world with the intention of showing the potentiality of the poetic act, the creative act.

20 years of euro in your pocket

Until 30th October, from Wednesday to Sunday, from 10 am to 6 pm, last entry at 5:30 pm, Museu do Dinheiro, Largo de São Julião (buses: 206, 210, 706, 728, 735, 774, 781, 782). Free entry. More information at: museudodinheiro.pt

In 2022, we celebrate 20 years since the euro started to circulate. Banks, ATMs, retailers and the public in general were stocked, but on the first day of the year, in 2002, Portugal witnessed a huge turnout to exchange bills and coins, which created long lines a bit all over the country. There was a whole preparation process prior to the moment of the currency exchange. The production of euro bills started in July 1999 in 15 factories throughout Europe. One of them was the Portuguese VALORA. In this exhibition you can find out more about the euro, which is the world's second most used currency.

Under the Skin

Until 6th November, every day, from 10 am to 6:30 pm, Museu Coleção Berardo, Praça do Império (train: Cascais line, Belém station | buses: 729, 714, 727, 728, 751| tram: 15). Tickets: from Sunday to Friday, 5 euros; Saturday, free entry. More information at: museuberardo.pt

Miguel Telles da Gama, author of the exhibition 'Debaixo da Pele', shows the visitors that, although (almost) everything has already been invented, there are still stories to be told. Thus, he presents a new work, full of fragments from his earlier works. The artist wants to convey the message that there is still much to be said. Starting from the images, the words and the colours, each work randomly brings together fragments of stories which never come to an end, among graphics and pictures or even film images; in these works, fragments are sometimes covered by words or by colour smudges which transform them or give them new meaning.

The horizon is the middle

Until 11th November, from Thursday to Saturday, from 3 pm to 5:30 pm, Galeria Liminare, Alameda das Linhas de Torres, 156 (metro: Quinta das Conchas). Free entry. More information at: www.fcsh.unl.pt/eventos

'O horizonte é o meio' is an exhibition by six artists: Carla Rebelo, Dalila Gonçalves, Desali, Diogo Evangelista, Gonçalo Preto and Henrique Biatto. In this showing, the horizon is the starting point to build new possibilities – a journey to the invisible, an intimate dialogue, the line which guides action and the creation of fictional places. Basically, the horizon line is the starting point to connect disciplines and to bring artistic practice and the future to discussion.

The advertisements cover different subjects: energy, finance, insurance, transports, telecommunications, fuels, electricity, tourism, the pharmaceutical industry or wine. This exhibition, which is part of the MUDE OUTSIDE programme while the museum is closed for works, reveals the evolution and the big socio-cultural, socio-economic and political changes in Portugal's daily life.

The Museu de Lisboa presents a retrospective of last century's 20s in the exhibition 'The Roaring '20s in Lisboa'. Even today, the decade of 1920 is still remembered as a period of transformation in customs and mentalities. Lisboa was not excluded from this movement: modernity, social and individual affirmation were also experienced in the Portuguese capital. In spite of the political and economic instability of the time, Lisboa followed some trends, spreading the novelties and extravagances which arrived through the press, literature, radio and cinema. Thus, this exhibition transports us to that same time period through personal stories and experiences.

With works which do not present hypothesis or conclusions, the public is invited to enjoy the textures and the complexity of the compositions, as well as to discover enigmatic and sophisticated images.
