Alkantara Festival

From 10th to 26th November; in various cultural venues in Lisboa.
Tickets: depending on the show. More information at: alkantara.pt

Dance, theatre, performance, gatherings and parties will once again be spread throughout Lisboa to celebrate another edition of Alkantara Festival. This 30th edition brings 'Blackface', a solo show, written and directed by Marco Mendonça; a musical conference, between stand up and phantasy, between satire and physical theatre, between the burlesque and the documental, that is presented at Teatro do Bairro Alto; 'Father for Dinner', a show by Gaya de Medeiros that will go on stage at Centro Cultural de Belém and questions us about how we manage words, affections and archetypes around the idea of 'being a man'. Among other shows, two stand out: on the one hand, Nadia Beugré is returning to Portugal to present 'Prophetic (We are already born)' at Culturgest. This show results from the contact she has been maintaining with the transgender community of Abidjan. The other show is called 'Uirapuru' and will be presented at São Luiz Teatro Municipal. It is a co-creation by Marcelo Evelin and Demolition Incorporated about the entities inhabiting the forests of Brazil and the imagery of the Brazilian woods.

The Temps d'Images festival, which takes place every year with the purpose of supporting contemporary creation by bringing artists, programmers and public closer together, at the same time as it promotes the circulation and presentation of important works, is back for its Moment II. In this culture festival, one performance that stands out is 'Trans*Performatividade', by Aura, which will premiere at Mono Lisboa and consists of transposing trans experiences into contemporary practices that merge the sharing of stories and collective performances; another highlight is the premiere of 'A Bola de Cristal', by Luísa Fidalgo, at Café Teatro Cinearte. This show is about a mother who disappeared; a Portuguese woman named Rosário (1950-2009) who left behind more than 30 diaries and a fixed seat at the Bingo.

Useful Information

Lisboa is the capital of Portugal and the country's biggest city, located on the estuary of the Tejo river, on the European Atlantic coast. It is continental Europe's westernmost capital. Portugal's official language is Portuguese. Derived from Latin roots, Portuguese is the third most spoken European language in the world, with around 200 million speakers.

Around 3 million people live in the Lisboa region, with around 600 thousand living in the capital itself. The Portuguese Constitution allows religious freedom, with various religions being practised in Portugal.

Electric voltage: 230 / 400 volts, on a 50-hertz frequency. The electric sockets adhere to European standards. Blade plugs (US standard) must be used in conjunction with a 230 volts transformer, as well as an adaptor

In Lisboa winters are mild and summers hot, though moderated by its location near the sea. During spring and autumn there are usually sunny days with mild temperatures.

Fado

INTANGIBLE HERITAGE OF HUMANITY

PATRIMÓNIO DA
HUMANIDADE

HERITAGE OF

The song of Lisboa and the World

Classified as Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO since November 2011, Fado is the purest expression of Lisboa's "soul". Much more than just a song, Fado is a musical manifestation of feeling Portuguese and a city's way of life, always accompanied by the solemn and melancholy chords of the Portuguese guitar.

Considered a brand inseparable from the culture and tradition of the Portuguese capital, Fado has been for at least two centuries, part of the city's heritage that endowed it with soul and voice. But since influences from overseas, and from various cultures which arrived in Lisboa can also be heard in Fado, Lisboa's song is now deservedly a shared heritage with the world. Inspired from a simple and sentimental language, Fado's universal character surpasses all barriers and is now enjoyed by millions of fans worldwide. This internationalization of Fado is greatly due to the charisma and the voice of Amalia Rodrigues, the most renowned fado singer of all time, who from the 1950's took Lisboa's song to the most prestigious venues, from Russia to Japan. More recently, a new generation of singers of this genre has given the song a new vitality, placing it in the circuits of World Music.

The ultimate international recognition of Fado comes with UNESCO's highest recognition, whose award of the Intangible Heritage of Humanity title makes this a perfect example of how a centuries-old tradition of a city becomes the identity symbol of a people. Therefore, whenever the lights are dimmed in a fado house and someone says "Silence, Fado is about to be sung", this is not just a ritual that is being performed. It is, as Amália Rodrigues would say, "a strange form of life" that is being renewed.

Ricardo Jacinto develops his artistic practice among genres and typologies. 'O Rapto de Europa (# 2)' is a performance and a sound installation. A piece which continues the collaboration between Ricardo Jacinto and Arkadi Zaides. This joint work materializes in an instrumental scenography that evokes geopolitical questions through the concept of 'borders'. It is composed of two sculptural bodies that replicate the contour of Greece's and Turkey's coasts, where the crossing of refugees on boats was most intense. The artist activates the device through a performance, followed by a number of screaming feedback resonances that result from the manipulated contact between the two structures.

'Nabucco', Giuseppe Verdi's third opera, written in 1842, is divided in four acts and takes place in the ruins of modern Palmyra, telling the story of King Nabucodonosor II of Babylon, who fought the Hebrews and plundered the city. Performed by the Hesperian Symphony Orchestra, the opera tells the story of Nabucco, father of Abigail and Fenena. Abigail finds out that she is not Nabucco's daughter but rather an adopted slave and swears revenge. Nabucco proclaims himself not only King, but also God of the Hebrews, being punished for his irreverence and struck by lightning, that makes his crown fall from his head. Taking advantage of the king's signs of madness, Abigail proclaims herself absolute sovereign, condemning the Hebrews to death. Fenena, in the meantime, converts to Judaism and is taken to the scaffold. Nabucco tries to help her and orders the destruction of the temple of the Assyrian idol. He also decrees immediate freedom for the Hebrews. Abigail appears repentant and begs for forgiveness, but she is poisoned and falls dead while Zaccaria crowns Nabucco king of the Jews.

'Maria da Fonte' is a comic and satirical operetta in the style of Geração 70; its author is Augusto Machado and it premiered in Teatro da Trindade in 1879. Although the original text has not survived to this day, the present author of the libretto, Ricardo Neves-Neves, presents the popular hero, Maria da Fonte, as an intense, brave woman, respecting the original plot. The intrigue, performed by Coro do Teatro Nacional de São Carlos and by the Orquestra Sinfónica Portuguesa, unfolds based on the theme of a betrayal involving Maria da Fonte, her lover Ludovino, a rich farmer, and her sister, Joana. There is also a conspiracy between the local administrator, Vilar, and the abbot Cortições, who is implied to be Maria da Fonte's and Joana's father, to send the boys to the army in order to fight the rabble.

Winner of the 'Dance Oscar' in 2018, the Prix Benois de la Danse, the renowned Brazilian company Deborah Colker presents 'Cão sem Plumas', a show inspired by João Cabral de Melo Neto's poem with the same title, published in 1950. The poem accompanies the course of the Capibaribe river, that runs through part of the state of Pernambuco, in the northeast of Brazil. It shows the poverty of the riverside population, the indifference of the elites, as well as life on the swamp. This explicitly Brazilian show brings together on stage music, projections and dancers covered in dust, trying to explore this region's beauty and culture.

Lisboa and the 1755 earthquake

More than 260 years ago, Lisboa shook as never before due to an earthquake that destroyed a big part of the city centre of the time. The 1755 earthquake was the most destructive natural disaster to affect the country, but, at the same time, it was the motto that led to the birth of a more organized and modern Lisboa.

The famous Pombaline downtown takes its shape and name after being particularly devastated and rebuilt under the orientation of the prime minister, Marquês de Pombal.

Although the capital gained a new architecture, there are still some traces of the earthquake. The ruins of the Carmo Convent are one of the examples. Built in 1389 and driven by D. Nuno Álvares Pereira's religious devotion, it was erected on the hill that borders on St. George's castle and, due to its grandeur and monumentality, it rivalled Lisboa's Cathedral. Over the centuries it was expanded and changed, adapting to new architectural tastes and styles, turning the monument into one of Lisboa's richest constructions. With the earthquake and the fire that broke out inside, the building was severely damaged and, although restoration works were initiated, they were never finished. Already in the 20th century, the decision was made not to continue the reconstruction, keeping the romantic style and its ruins in display.

This natural phenomenon marked Lisboa very deeply and is something that is still remembered today and even a topic for debate. There are even various socio-cultural facilities where it is possible to get to know the story of the 1st November 1755 in a fun and educational way. One example is the Lisboa Story Center, which is located at Terreiro do Paço. It offers its visitors 60 minutes of a fun journey through Lisboa's most iconic events, always respecting the historical truth. Through an audio-guide, the time travel is enriched with the presentation of reports and dramatic sets, which are true to the time they represent. This episode in particular is replicated in a play and complemented with the rise to the first floor, where there is an interactive maquette, that allows the visitors to see the events where they occurred.

More recently, a new tourist experience was created around this historic event: the Quake, Lisboa Earthquake Museum. In the 90-minute-long visit, there are information panels and interactive stations with additional information. From room to room, the light projections, sounds and even smells involve the visitors. The highlight of the visit is felt in the church set, where, by use of video mapping and special effects, the visitors can attend mass and have the true experience of the earthquake.

The earthquake was felt during the All Saints' Day homily. It was followed by several fires caused by the lit candles in the churches. Here, the visitors have the experience of feeling the ground shake, observing the fire and feeling its heat, as well as the splashes that came over the city due to the tsunami that ensued. After this moment, we find the rooms that reveal Lisboa's reconstruction, as well as the role that Marquês de Pombal played.

Those looking for an even more fun activity can choose an escape room, playing the role of prime minister. The Escape Hunt Experience is an adventure played by teams of two to five elements, where, challenge after challenge, new clues are found that lead to the resolution of a problem. In 'The Great Lisboa Earthquake' - which is one of the game's themes - the participants play the role of Marquês de Pombal, having to save as many lives as possible, experiencing the story as characters within the action.

Visit Lisboa in a different light, find out more about the story that gave rise to a big part of the architecture that characterizes the Portuguese capital today. Discover by yourself.

Vita Prima. Santo António in Portugal is intended to be a journey through the life of the young Fernando de Bulhões. Santo António had two lives with a turning point which was his joining the Order of Friars Minor. If, on the one hand, in Italy and France, he is better known as a preacher and a teacher of this Order, on the other hand, in Portugal, oral tradition has preserved the memory of this figure's childhood and youth. This exhibition is a proposal to understand how the saint and the values associated with him (sacred and profane) became pillars of Lisboa's identity.

'Bordalo em Trânsito' is an invitation to take a journey through Rafael Bordalo Pinheiro's artistic work. In an exhibition divided in three sections, it is possible to make a plural interpretation of the artist's talent and creativity in the light of the present, keeping in mind that a critical spirit and humour can be the perfect allies for the construction of an active, participated and constructive citizenship. In 'Bordalo in the mirror', the self-portrait is the protagonist. The artist presents himself, is transfigured and defies the sense of observation. 'Zé Povinho Identity and Politics' presents the artist's greatest creation: Zé Povinho, the symbolic representation of the Portuguese people. Finally, 'Bordalo at the Table' presents a theme that was very dear to the artist: gastronomy. In this section there are graphic records and ceramics pieces of royal opulence.
